

Valo's Fiber to the Farm product aims to bridge the divide between farmers and the digital world. With internet connectivity being essential for businesses to run effectively, about 60% of farmers today still do not have access to high-speed internet. Valo's Fiber to the Farm initiative provides high-speed internet services, which will enable farmers to bring their farm to the next level and ensure a competitive advantage for the future.

Vast Connections

With faster connections all over the world, farmers are now able to access a wide range of information at incredible speeds to help keep their farms up to date.

Improved Capabilities

As equipment continues to evolve, so should farming techniques. Allowing total integration for equipment will help to greatly improve performance.

Cost Efficient

Make your money work for you. By utilizing our low-cost fiber network connections, the return on investment will be seen immediately.

Flexible Speed Tiers

Through Valo's robust fiber network, there are plenty of speed tier offerings, giving users the flexibility to choose what best meets their immediate requirements.

Increase in Productivity

With access to such incredible speeds, farmers can begin to use technology to upgrade and optimize production in their farms.

